

When the Air Force Came to Town:
The 787th Radar Squadron at Chandler, MN, 1951-1969

William Palmer

CRRS Fellow

Tues. Nov. 29th
Noon to 1 PM in CH 217

"This presentation will explore how and why the Cold War came to SW Minnesota in the form of the 787th Radar Squadron. It will discuss the mission, operations, and impacts of the former Chandler Air Force Station and its relationships with the surrounding rural communities."

Presented by the Center for Rural and Regional Studies with funds provided by the Otto Bremer Foundation and by The Society for the Study of Local and Regional History.
